

I disagree with the proposed reallocation of the novice subbands. This plan encourages the use of spectrum-inefficient wideband modes. The subbands should instead be used to foster the use, experimentation and advancement of spectrum-efficient modes such as CW and digital voice and data. A more efficient use of our spectrum is the only goal which will truly alleviate any real or perceived overcrowding of the phone bands.